PRESS RELEASE

For immediate release

No one is ever happy about the break-up of a family farm, and this one has provided much enjoyment and a living for four generations of our family—since our great-great-grandfather William Sullentrop bought the property for his daughter and her new husband. The acreage we are retaining will continue to provide a base for our family and for Larry's farming and cattle. The acreage we are selling will now provide a place for new and existing businesses to expand to provide a living for citizens of Washington and the surrounding area. And that, we can all be happy about.
